The Boss Lie
A Colorado correspondent of an Iowa paper is responsible for the following: "Bill Nuckells, a prospector, fell down a prospect shaft forty feet deep, right into a nest of blacksnakes. Most men would have died of fright, but Nuckells was not that sort of a man. He tied several snakes together and started them up the side of the shaft, tying a fresh snake as fast as the rest went up. Pretty soon the head of the snakes got over the edge and started down hill. Nuckells kept tying on fresh reptiles until he had used up a couple of hundred—every snake there was in the shaft. By this time the crowd of snakes on the outside was strong enough to pull him out of the shaft, and he soon reached Mead's ranch, safe and sound."

"It came to me like oil upon the troubled waters," said the Rev. Thaddeus David, Carr street, Cincinnati, in speaking of his experience with St. Jacobs' Oil. ADAMS VS. CANAVAN.

The Democracy in Storey county are in trouble. The Adams faction seem to fear bulldozing at the primaries. At a meeting of the County Central Committee last evening the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to make arrangements for the Democratic county primaries was presented. In this the majority, or Canavan wing, of the Central Committee had named the clerk and judge of each polling place, while the minority, or anti-Canavan wing had in each case named the inspector. After a considerable amount of talking on both sides, a motion was made that the minority should be allowed to have an additional clerk of their own choosing at each polling place. This was decided in the negative by the Committee, whereupon the minority—consisting of Dr. H. Bergstein, A. J. Enders, J. Petrie and T. T. Newlove—left the Committee rooms.

Why the Lieutenant-Governor refuses to take his own prescription is not very plain. Adams was willing and indeed very anxious to run things his own way in Esmeralda county and did not seem to care what was done so long as his own interests were protected. When the delegates were appointed by the County Central Committee and instructed for him not a sound from Adams or his friends was audible. The shameless way in which the Lander county delegates were instructed, show that Mr. Adams is not very tender-footed when it goes his way. When he walks into Nye county and controls the committee's work there by instructing them to vote for himself—leaving out such men as Hon. Joe Williams, who it is well known can carry Nye county against the united efforts of Canavan and Adams together, show that as long as Adams is on top it all is well. And for him and his friends to make trouble when he gets a little the short end of the stick in Canavan's own county is in very poor taste. Mr. Adams ought to take his medicine with becoming dignity.

DON'T BREAK THE SET.

Mr. L. L. Crockett, our present efficient and faithful custodian of the State's sack, has concluded to seek a re-nomination at the hands of the Republican Convention for Treasurer.—Carson Tribune.

If Klinead is nominated the Convention might just as well go through the list and put Crockett up for Treasurer, Babcock for Secretary of State and Hatch for Surveyor-General. It would be folly to cut the loaf.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In the use of money to influence political affairs, Canada, it is said, outdoes the United States. Report has it that once on a time $400,000 of private funds were used in behalf of an individual candidate, and that the Government has been known to spend as much as $200,000 of secret service money on one election.

Democrats claim that the Washoe delegation are not, strictly speaking, Adams men. They were elected as anti-Canavan, and will no doubt support Adams unless some new man steps in. Schooling, it is said, can get every vote should he conclude to come in.

Newton Booth was made chairman of the Convention at Sacramento today without a contest. The belief is that Estee will be nominated; because with him for Governor and Blake for Mayor of San Francisco, the ticket will be stronger than with Blake for Governor.

The demand of the Irish constabulary is for an increase of a shilling a day in pay, increased allowances to married men living outside the barracks, and an equalization of pensions.

Good locomotive engineers are said to be scarce throughout the country. The demand for them has been increased by the construction of so many new railroads.

A. C. Nichols of Lander county is likely to enter the fight for State Treasurer.

FOREIGN TELEGRAPH.

EGYPT'S TROUBLES.

A Lively Skirmish by Moonlight—The British Victorious
ALEXANDRIA, August 29.

Those float in the harbor to-day witnessed the unusual sight of keel-bauling three of Arabi's sailors on board the Egyptian frigate Souda, for murder. They first flogged them, then tied them to a rope and hauled them up to the port yard arm, then dropped them into the sea, dragged them under the keel and hauled them up to the starboard yard arm. They soon died.

LONDON, August 29.

General Wolsey telegraphs from Kassasin lock: "Major General Graham, commanding this post, was attacked yesterday evening by about 12 guns and eight battalions. Our men behaved extremely well and inflicted a severe loss upon the enemy. Arabi Pasha was on the field during the action. The cavalry charged by moonlight, but were unable to secure the rebel guns, which the enemy withdrew during the night. They left, however, all their ammunition."

ISMAILIA, August 29.

When morning came great excitement prevailed in our camp at Kassasin, in consequence of the Egyptians showing themselves in considerable force in various directions. At 10 o'clock 4,000 Bedouins appeared on the right and front, extending two miles, but on the guns opening fire on them they retired. About 4 o'clock their infantry advanced in open order upon our left, bringing up several guns, which they placed at short distances from one another, and presently showed several pieces of artillery on our right. Our guns opened fire and our men turned out to face the attack. The fight now waxed warm, and during the whole afternoon the gallant little garrison made a good defense. Meanwhile the cavalry, which was five miles in the rear, and which had been twice signalled by General Graham to support him, advanced almost to our position without encountering the enemy. By 7 p. m. the whole force had set out to succor the troops at Kassasin.

The march had to be made cautiously. The moon was rising and showed the little army of horsemen to strange advantage as they passed over the ground in single file. Colonel Stewart, who directed the course of the brigade, disposed the men so excellently that he was enabled to pilot them direct to the point of contact without coming under fire of the guns then shelling the Kassasin camp. Colonel Russell brought his men over four miles of heavy ground, so that by nine o'clock, when they silently halted and formed line, they found themselves so close to the Egyptians that the shells went over their heads in quick succession, landing nearly half a mile in their rear.

Colonel Russell dismounted the cavalry and ordered them to open a sharp musketry fire, but they found the enemy closer than they had anticipated. Then Major General Lowe dashed up and gave the words of command to mount and charge. The words had scarcely been uttered when they obeyed the order, and swept on with drawn sabers. In a few moments the horsemen charged and mingled with the Egyptians and cut them up seriously. A general rout ensued, Arabi's artillery getting the guns away, while the infantry fell into a disordered mass upon the banks of the canal. A few dashed into the water to save themselves.

It is hard to imagine a more complete success than was now seen. The bravery of the cavalry in this charging a blind position, the strength of which it was impossible to tell, rendered the enemy almost panic-stricken. Once more the enemy fell back rapidly. Nor was this to be wondered at when the race between the various regiments of English cavalry is considered.

In this way our position at Kassasin was relieved. For the sake of fairness it should be remembered that the men who took part in this gallant achievement worked for nearly 24 hours on empty stomachs, but never dreamed of grumbling. The horses have been without food for the same length of time.

The British cavalry charged straight at the guns, sabering the gunners as they passed and cutting down the flying infantry beyond them. The Egyptians came on with great bravery, and in spite of the heavy fire of our men were rapidly gaining ground and would soon have rushed upon our entrenchments. But the roar of our guns on the left, followed by the rush of our cavalry, proved too much for them, and from that moment they thought only of flight.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 29.
The text in the military convention was drawn and agreed upon to-day by Lord Duffin and the Ottoman plenipotentiaries, and will probably be formally signed within a few days.

ISMAILIA, August 30.
The British have now nearly established a line of communication with Tel-el-Kebir. A railway along the route is nearly completed and several trains have already been sent forward.

General Wolsey and the entire army are marching to the front.

Resignations Withdrawn.

the request of the Inspector-General, satisfactory explanation having been given in regard to the dismissal of the five constables.

VIENNA, August 30.

A hailstorm occurred near Pesch on Monday, destroying vineyards and maize fields and partly demolishing 10 houses. Many workmen were killed.

EASTERN DISPATCHES.

The Kewanee Bank Robbery.

KEWANEE, ILL., August 29.

Great excitement exists over the arrest of Pratt, the cashier of the First National Bank, on a charge of complicity in the recent robbery, in which the thieves got away with $20,000. The arrest has just been made, and the detectives claim they have plenty of evidence to sustain the charge.

CHICAGO, August 29.

Edward N. Welch, arrested three or four days ago in New York for robbing the First National Bank of Kewanee, Illinois, passed through this city this evening en route for Kewanee, in charge of the detective who arrested him. The detective agency which has charge of the case says he made a confession to the effect that Dr. J. S. Scott of St. Louis, formerly a resident of Kewanee, planned the robbery, though he took no direct part in it; that Pratt, the acting cashier, was a party to it, and, instead of the large sum in gold notes missing being carried away in the valise with the other money, it was Pratt who carried it off previous to the day when Welch and his companions locked Pratt and Mrs. Harris in the vault and carried away the remainder, mostly in paper money. Welch refuses to give the name of the man who helped him in the job.

St. Louis, August 29.

Dr. J. Scott was arrested here last night by one of Pinkerton's detectives on a charge of being implicated in the Kewanee bank robbery. Scott formerly lived in Kewanee, but claims to have been a resident of St. Louis for the past six months. He was in Kewanee at the time of the robbery, but says he had nothing to do with it and knows nothing about it.

CHICAGO, August 30.

Dr. Scott, arrested for complicity in the bank robbery at Kewanee, was known there chiefly as a fine poker player and a rubicund-faced live liver. He was intimate with Pratt and Welch. The intimacy is believed to have caused Pratt's downfall.

National Democratic Committee Affairs.

NEW YORK, August 30.

A Times Washington special says: The National Democratic Committee is interesting itself in a slight degree in Ohio and California, in the latter State particularly, because chairman Roosevelt is personally interested in the contest there. The committee has requested Thurman to make two or three speeches in Ohio and this, with a lot of stump speeches, is all the aid thus far extended to the Buckeye Democrats. Representative Flower, who was made chairman of the Board of Control of Democrats, with the object of superseding Roosevelt in the management of its affairs, is giving personal attention to the work, being engaged in the gubernatorial struggle in New York; while Phillips B. Thompson of New York, who was made an assistant of Flowers, is so busily engaged with his struggle for renomination to Congress that he is unable to give any of his time to the work of the committee.

Institute of Mining Engineers—Snowstorm at Leadville.

DENVER, Col., August 30.

The seventh annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining Engineers closed last night with a grand banquet at the Windsor Hotel, by the citizens. A committee numbering about 100 arrived at Denver, August 19, since which they have visited the exposition and many principal mining towns of the State; also many families, mines, smelters, sampling and reducing works, and the Bessemer steel works.

A heavy snowstorm has been raging in Leadville since last night.

Peaceable, Well-Fed Crows.

CHICAGO, August 30.

J. Dunn, post-trader at Crow agency, Montana, arrived here yesterday. He denies the reports that the Crows have been depredating. They were never more peaceable than now. They are well fed and clothed and have no cause for complaint. He thinks the next generation will take to farming.

Tug's Intentions.

NEW YORK, August 30.

It seems that Tug Wilson is merely going to England to bring his family here. He has no idea of forfeiting the money already put up, and means fight.

Death of a Noted Musician.

NEW YORK, August 30.

The cable announces the death of Frederick Godfrey, the musician. He was for many years bandmaster of the Coldstream Guards. He was brother of Dan Godfrey, bandmaster of the Grenadiers, and wrote waltzes, polkas, and light pieces of music which were nearly as popular as those of his brother.

WESTERN TELEGRAMS.

Sacramento Republican Convention, SACRAMENTO, August 30.

The Republican State Convention at Sacramento was called to order at 2 p. m. by W. W. Morrow, Chairman of the State Central Committee.

James A. Orr of Plumas was elected temporary secretary, and ex-Senator Newton Booth was elected temporary chairman by acclamation without opposition. A Committee of 15 on Platform and one of nine on Permanent Organization was appointed.

Booth came forward amidst outbursts of applause, loud and prolonged. On taking the chair Mr. Booth said he looked over the Convention and saw strength in the faces assembled. There had been no political parties in all history that had accomplished so much for justice, so much for harmony and so much for freedom, as the Republican party had accomplished by enlightened law during the past 27 years. The party could not live on its traditions. It must drink anew at the original fountain of its inspiration. We must meet new questions with old courage.

Killed for a Woman.

LAS VEGAS, N. M., August 30.

In a melee at San Jeronimo, in the mountains, Jack Perry and M. Gonzales were fatally shot, and three other natives badly wounded. Perry's suite for the hand of a senorita aroused Mexican vengeance. Perry's parents reside at Baton Rouge, La. Officers are after the murderers.

A LAKE TAHOE ROMANCE.

Marriage is High Life (Altitude About 6,000 Feet)—The Novel Wedding of Well-Known Renoites.

Sunday morning, the 27th, your correspondent was aroused from his couch of pine boughs and grass at an unusually early hour. With a sleepy yawn and prolonged stretch he sits up and contemplates the scene before him. The first rays of the morning sun illumine the East. The grand old pines tower above him stately and majestic, casting long, weird shadows. Through the openings of the forest he catches glimpses of the lovely blue lake, its coloring so softened and mild, its waters so placid and quiet, that it rests the eye and brain to gaze upon it. The bustle in the surrounding camps recalls his half awakened senses, and it suddenly dawns upon him that

SOMETHING MORE THAN ORDINARY

Is on the tapis. He bounces up, takes a hasty wash, scrapes the coals of the camp fire together, puts on the coffee and potatoes, and then sings out to the camp that "the morn is up—the lark is soaring." A drowsy voice replies that it might be a good idea to "let her soar." In half an hour we are all seated around the breakfast table, and trout, quail and beans disappear in a manner that can only be appreciated by campers. Breakfast jokes are not quite as frequent as usual this morning, as we all are a little serious, knowing that when we gather around the table again, one of our young ladies will no longer be a Miss. The steamer Gov. Stanford had been chartered for the occasion, and is now lying at the Tallac House wharf, with forty or more friends (our neighbor campers) and music aboard waiting to receive us. We all file on board. The music strikes up, the whistle shrieks, the engineer's bell jingles and we glide swiftly out upon the

DEEP BLUE WATERS.

Presently we stop at McKinney's and take the Rev. Mr. Eastman of Austin aboard. Now we steer boldly out for the center of the lake, and soon the whistle of the steamer tells us we have crossed the State line and are in Nevada. The passengers all form in a semicircle on the upper deck with the music in the center. "I am waiting, my darling, for thee," is rendered by a trio consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Meder and Mr. Flanders, and then, as a wedding march is played, the bridal party emerge from the cabin and are received by the Rev. Mr. Eastman: first the bride, Miss Elsie Chandler, a Cincinnati belle, supported on the arm of your correspondent, upon whom devolves the paternal duty of giving the bride away; next, Miss Katie Kinkead, the bosom friend of the bride, accompanied by Thomas K. Stewart, who are to assume the respective parts of and last the groom, Mr. Will. E. Fisher of San Francisco, tenderly supported by Miss Emma Gibbs (our Dick). In a few moments the impressive ceremony of the Episcopal church has been performed; the solemn vows have been exchanged; the wedding ring given; the happy pair have been made man and wife, and congratulations are in order.

Truly, a romance has occurred to us that will ever be vividly recalled by each of our little party, and mark a bright and happy episode in our lives. The sky is clear and cloudless, the water of the lake without a ripple, the grand old forests stare calmly at us from every side, and all nature seems glad in the union of two holy young lovers. May their voyage in life, so joyously begun, be ever prosperous and happy.

Finlen's Troubles.

The trial of ex-Roadmaster Miles Finlen began yesterday before Judge Rising at Virginia. A jury was obtained with but little trouble. The indictment on which Finlen is being tried is classified as indictment No. 3, and charges him with drawing $78 from the County Treasury for work alleged to have been performed on the streets by one Ryan last April, where as Ryan worked but three days and was entitled to but $9, and that Finlen appropriated $69 of the $78 to his own use. The prosecution of the ex-Roadmaster promises to be interesting, and a hard fight will be made to save his bacon.

It May be a Good Country.

A. Bassett, formerly of the Comstock, arrived from Wood River last night, and gives the country a better name than anybody else who has returned from there. He says smelters are now reducing ore for $15 per ton—$30 was charged last year—and that if miners are willing to work their claims in earnest they can make fair wages. The great trouble is that the country is filled with bums and whisky-heads, who want to sell thousand-dollar mines for large fortunes. It is the "holding-on" element that kills a new camp, no matter what its merits may be.

Settle Up.

I. Barnett wants all who are indebted to him to distinctly understand that he wants his money, and must have it by the 15th of September. Unless his request is complied with he will place all unsettled accounts in the hands of a collector at that time. Read his proclamation in another column.

A WIFE-THIEF MAULED.

Eugene Sagebeer Runs Off With His Friend's Wife and Money, and Gets Roughly Handed by the Outraged Husband.

Eugene Sagebeer, well known in Carson, has been lately employed by a mining company in Gardfield District. The foreman of the company, John McGinley, took a fancy to Sagebeer, and invited him to visit his family. Mr. McGinley's wife, a very attractive woman, soon learned to more than like her husband's guest, and her sentiments were ardently reciprocated by him. In the early part of last week Mrs. McGinley, her four-year-old daughter, a most charming child, and Sagebeer turned up missing, as did also Mr. McGinley's purse and six-shooter. The husband at once set out in search of the fugitives, tracing them to Carson.

THE RUNAWAYS FOUND.

He searched nearly every hotel and lodging house in Carson without success, says the Appeal, until about 6 o'clock on Sunday morning, when he was told that parties answering the description of the runaway couple were stopping at a lodging-house near the Mint. Before 7 o'clock he rapped at a bed-room door in that lodging which was supposed to contain his erring wife and her paramour. Not receiving a reply after rapping twice, he placed his shoulder to the door and violently effected an entrance to the room. With one glance he took in the whole disgraceful situation; his wife and her paramour were lying in bed locked in each other's embrace, and by the side of the shameless pair was the little girl. The child at once cried "Oh, there's my papa!" and Sagebeer, the cowardly whelp, whined, "Oh! don't hurt us. Oh! don't hurt us."

MAULING A SCRUB.

McGinley, who is a pretty muscular man, at once proceeded to beat Sagebeer, and no doubt administered a first-class thrashing—it's a pity he left a whole bone in the hound's body. Beside the bed was a table upon which was lying the stolen pistol, and Mr. McGinley stated that the only thing that prevented him from using it against the guilty pair was the thought of his little child. After settling with the man and woman in anything but a delicate manner, he compelled them to refund what they had remaining of the stolen money, took his child and left. Sagebeer is about 22 years old and the woman is 32. McGinley's motive for tracing the shameless pair was to get possession of his child, and having attained that end he was satisfied. He is well known in Bodie and Homer District, where he was engaged in mining last year, and has always been a good husband and father.

Canavan and Adams.

The Eureka Sentinel takes this view of the situation: "The Democratic State Convention to be held in Eureka on the 6th of September, will be composed of 111 delegates, making 56 necessary to elect. It will be interesting to note what progress has been made by Canavan and Adams towards securing delegates to their favor. It is known definitely that Adams has so far carried certain counties. Canavan's progress in the fight cannot be definitely known until the meeting of the Convention, inasmuch as no County Central Committee has appointed delegates in his interest, as they have done for Adams. By means of such appointments and primary elections, Adams will get the delegations from Esmeralda, 8; Eureka, 10; Lander, 7; Lyon, 4; Nye, 5; Washoe, 9; thus making it sure for him already that he will go to the Convention with 43 votes. In order to get the nomination he will have to have 13 more, with the following counties still to be heard from: Churchill, Douglas, Elko, Humboldt, Lincoln, Ormsby, Storey and White Pine, in which the aggregate vote is 68."

Miners' Union Picnic.

Saturday, September 9th the grand annual picnic excursion of the Miners' Union will take place at Treadway's Park, Carson. The committee have arranged a splendid programme and the picnic will be the event of the season. Read the programme and list of prizes offered in another column. Reno always sends a large delegation to the miners' annual good time, and all who have ever attended are anxious for the day to come when they can go again.

Force of Habit.

It seems rather odd that a railroad man can't do anything without he has a lantern in his hand. This shows the force of habit. When a train hand is directed to examine any car gearing, he reaches for a lantern the first thing, even if the sun is at high meridian. Habit becomes second nature. A boy returning from sea cannot sleep unless somebody throws water against his bedroom window; and a dentist can't see a man's face without wanting to look down his throat.

Spying Out the Situation.

Hon. W. W. Hobart came in from Eureka last night. He is the advance guard of the Eureka delegation to the State Convention, and will buy himself the next day or two looking over the situation in Western Nevada. If he canvasses the proposition thoroughly, he will be a wiser and better man.

THE C. & C. ROAD.

Two Hundred Miles of Country that Has Much to Interest the Tourist and Prospector.

Business on the Carson & Colorado railroad is increasing and the property is already making fair returns, but nothing like what it will do next year, when the Bodie connection is made and the main trunk line reaches the Arizona border. It will undoubtedly become a great commercial thoroughfare, and Reno will reap much benefit from it. The track is now laid to a point 22 miles south of Candelaria, from which latter place to Mound House the distance is 158 miles. The road is remarkably well built, and the cars are so easy and steady to ride in that a person can comfortably and agreeably read fine print without difficulty. Two railroad men from St. Louis, who rode over the C. & C. last week, pronounced it one of the steadyest roads they ever saw, and were much surprised at the speed attained. From Mound House for a distance of 30 miles south, the road runs through a lovely country, well wooded and watered, and abounding in everything that makes nature attractive. Though further on the landscape may seem monotonous to some, the views are really full of interest to one who loves to study the peculiarities of the earth's surface disturbances. For about 100 miles the road skirts or is in near sight of a vast mineral belt which has hardly been touched by the prospector, where many good mines will undoubtedly be found. At various points along the belt there are numerous small plants for grinding quartz, operated by men who are satisfied to get a fair return for moderate labor. This is one of the most promising mineral regions on the coast, and will one day become a busy mining section. Though hilly, the country is easily accessible and fairly wooded and watered.

A short time ago grading on the Bodie and Benton railway was stopped en route to Benton. The company will build the road from Benton junction, instead of from Mono lake and, by so doing, its rolling stock, rails, etc., can all be received by rail, making a great saving in time and money. The surveys of the company are in the field locating the route from Benton to Bodie, and as soon as the route is selected grading will be commenced and the road pushed to an early completion.
